

Reducing Parental Conflict Pathway

FREE MULTI-AGENCY TRAINING

When arguments between parents become: frequent, intense and don't get sorted out, children's well-being, development and longer term mental health can be affected.

The Darlington Reducing Parental Conflict Pathway ensures parents get the right support to help reduce arguments, disagreements and tension in their relationship, which is a benefit for children and the whole family

Training for Health Visitors, School Nurses, Family Liaison and Pastoral School Staff, Social Workers, SEND Workers, Police and Children's Mental Health Workers working in Darlington.

Find Out:

- How to identify parental conflict and use the Darlington Parental relationship spectrum and Pathway to signpost parents to the right support.
- The causes of Parental Conflict and why it matters for children and their outcomes.
- Practical tips for managing situations of Parental Conflict using the Darlington RPC Toolkit
